Judge Helge Refsum,
Tinghuset,
Bergen, Norway

Dear Judge Refsum:

Your nice letter of the 30th of September was received today. I note that you like to receive letters in English which, naturally, makes it easier for me although I like to receive letters in Norwegian.

I finally was able to contact a dealer in books who promised to obtain for me a copy of "The Measure of Man." They promised to have it in a few weeks and would let me know as soon as they received it. I will then arrange to have it sent to you. The dealer informed me that Grosset & Dunlap would not send the book directly to you but that it had to come through a dealer.

I am writing this letter on an old letterhead in which I thought you might be interested. I think that perhaps all of the names have been changed since it was printed although most of them are still on the active list.

Yes, these appear to be critical times and we all hope that calmer minds will prevail and that no accident will set off a war which will damage the whole human race. With so many different nationalities involved, it may be extremely difficult to arrive at a settlement with justice to all people. Perhaps impossible to achieve as the mind of man is constituted. Vil der alltid bli krig og rygter om krig?

My wife joins me in greetings and all good wishes for you and your good wife.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Moe
